END OF TRACY.

Kills Himself to Avoid Being Taken Alive.

The Most Daring and Desperate Criminal of the Last Decade.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 6.—Harry Tracy, escaped convict, murderer, outlaw and desperado, is dead!

The man who has for weeks and months defied the law, and exhibited the most wonderful daring, is now as harmless as a babe. The man who made his escape two months ago from the Oregon State prison, since which time has killed four of his pursuers, murdered his fellow-mate in crime and wounded a number, ended his own wretched life in a wheatfield near Fellows, a few miles from Spokane, at 4:30 this morning.

A short time prior to his suicide he had engaged in a battle with a posse of pursuers and received a wound which disabled him and rendered him an easy prey to the army of manhunters constantly on his trail.

Seeing that capture was inevitable, the fired a bullet through his head.

Following the direction in which Tracy made his escape, the posse came upon his lifeless body, a ghastly wound telling the tale.

The trusty revolver was still tightly clutched in his hand; his rifle, with which he has laid several faithful officials low and routed every posse, was lying near him on the ground.

Thus the ambition of detectives to take him alive and gain a world-wide reputation was thwarted.

PENITENTIARY SENTENCE

Completed, When Party Was Rearrested for Forgery.

Hudy Waggoner, who was sent to the penitentiary from this county for grand larceny, served his sentence of one year and returned to the Casky neighborhood about a week ago.

Waggoner was also under indictment for forgery, and an officer arrested him Wednesday and placed him in jail here.

He is charged with "raising" a $6 check to $10. The check was given Waggoner by Mr. Holland Garnett, a young farmer.

CAMPMEETING BEGINS.

Cascade Camp Grounds at Sebree Alive With People.

The Sebree Campmeeting began at Cascade camp grounds yesterday with a good attendance. A large number of tents are up and preparations have been made to entertain all who may go. The meeting will last about two weeks and there will be preaching both day and night.

Several from this city went down to be present at the opening of the series of meetings and others will go a little later along.

LIVED TOGETHER

Less Than a Year And Plaintiff Alleges Abandonment.

Jas. F. Addock has filed suit for divorce from Elizabeth Addock. The plaintiff states that he and the defendant were married in 1901 and that they lived together until August of the same year, at which time she abandoned his home and has not since that time lived with him.

Narrow Escape.

News reaches here, unaccompanied by any of the particulars, to the effect that Miss Hallie Elmore Rives got mixed up with a sturgeon while boating on the Delaware river recently and narrowly escaped drowning.—Times-Journal.

The figures above are but little changed from those heretofore published.

The democratic Executive committee of the Second District will meet at Dawson Springs to-morrow to canvass the returns and officially declare the result.

As there will be no contest, its duties will be merely formal.

The expense accounts of the county chairmen will be audited and paid. The election officers have already been paid, the sum of $688 having been set aside for that purpose.

Hon. A. O. Stanley will not attend the meeting to receive in person the official notification of his nomination. He will leave tonight for a trip to Salt Lake City and will send a written acceptance of the nomination. He is worn out by the canvass and his physician recommended an entire change of climate as a necessary step to bring about a speedy recovery from the condition of nervous prostration in which he finds himself.

TANDY-VAUGHN.

Popular Young People United in Marriage Monday Night.

Mr. Gus P. Tandy and Miss Jessie L. Vaughn were married at the home of the bride's parents, on Brown St. Elder H. D. Smith performed the ceremony in the presence of a limited number of friends and relatives of the young people.

The groom is city tax collector and is one among the most popular young business men of the town. He has been with J. H. Anderson & Co. for several years. His bride is a woman possessed of rare beauty and is exceedingly popular with a wide circle of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Tandy have taken board at Hotel Latham.

THE WEED.

No Material Change In Status of Local Market.

Tobacco sales this week were about the same as those the week before, a report of which appeared in the KENTUCKIAN. While the sales on the breaks were not large, considerable of the weed was disposed of privately. Only leaf tobacco is being offered now, as about all the lugs have been sold. Prices remain unchanged. The growing crop is very uneven and is being cut short on account of lack of rain. From present indications there will not be more than 70 per cent. of a crop in the dark tobacco district and this estimate may be too high. Worms have made their appearance in some sections of the county.

NEW AGENT.

Mr. J. C. Hoee Succeeds Mr. R. M. Slater.

Mr. J. C. Hoee, of Louisville, has succeeded Mr. R. M. Slater as agent of the L. & N. in this city. He is said to be an experienced and capable man. Chas. L. Daniel will continue in the position of assistant agent.

KILLED.

Fatal Accident on a Trestle at Dawson.

At Dawson Springs Wednesday five women, visitors at the springs, were run down on a trestle by an Illinois Central freight train. Miss Johnnie Smith, of Paducah, aged 19, and Miss Lucy Stevenson, aged 19, of Hickory Grove, were killed. Miss Fredonia Flynn, of Paducah, Miss Edna Stevenson, of Hickory Grove, and Miss Annie Nichols, of Lowes, were seriously injured, and Miss Flynn died a few hours later.

BOREING RENOMINATED.

His Opponents Were Seemingly Not in the Race.

London, Ky., Aug. 4.—The returns tonight show that Hon. Vincent Boreing has been renominated for congress from the Eleventh district by the Republicans by an overwhelming majority. Colson only carried one county which was Bell. Parker was hardly known in the race.

A Frequent Lament.

All that is mortal of Jack Russell—heroic, unassuming Jack—now lies among strangers in far-away Manila. Peace to his ashes. If every one to whom he has done some kindness would place upon his tomb a rose, he would sleep beneath a wilderness of flowers.

Such is the lament of the Todd County Times over the vain loss of one the community highly prized. And that is but one instance. Others abound in every section of the United States. Four thousand coffins were shipped from San Francisco to Manila on July 4 for other Jack Russells whose grief-stricken homes are in every part of the land.—Paducah News-Democrat.

SEVENTH MAN

Charged With Complicity in Col. Fey Murder Under Arrest.

Another one of the men under indictment here for complicity in the murder of Chief of the Guard Robert H. Coffey near Empire last fall, was arrested last Sunday at Grand Rivers by detective Peck Porter. His name is Jim Merrick. The prisoner was brought here and lodged in jail.

Merrick makes the seventh man arrested in connection with the assassination. Five of them are in jail here and two, J. W. Anderson and Burrell Wiley, are out on bond for their appearance at the fall term of Circuit court.

THE FINEST OF ALL.

Trigg County Pearl Weighing 30 Grains.

Mr. R. C. Hardwick has in his possession the finest pearl ever found in the pearl fisheries of Little River. It was found in Trigg county and the original finder was paid $25 for it. Mr. Hardwick has not stated what he paid for it, but it is worth commercially about $300, or ten dollars a grain. It weighs 30 grains and is as large as a hazelnut. It is almost round, being slightly indented on one side. It is perfectly clear and a most beautiful gem.

MARRIED SIX YEARS.

Abandonment alleged in Suit for Divorce Filed Wednesday.

Buck Boyd filed suit for divorce from Bell Boyd, alleging abandonment. The parties were married in 1894 and lived together until August, 1901, says plaintiff in his petition.

BY SPECIAL REQUEST

MORNING.

Across the sky, at break of day,
A valley had collected round two slugs
The little stars grew almost white,
Then came the dawn, and all was light.
And, like the breathing of a child,
A murmur fluttered, soft and mild,
From the air, and, as it stirred,
The call of chattering was heard.

Then came a cooling, swift rain sound:
The little stars then wrote down
And lifted them in tones of praise
To see the daylight's golden haze.
The darkness of the night was passed,
In the rose light of dawn,
Slowly, from out the radiant haze,
The sun was seen to lift his head.

All Nature joyfully arose,
And into wilder music broke,
The flow is unfettered in the light,
The world is shining clear and bright
With drops of dew which, all in haste,
The birds and bees flow down to taste,
And butterflies spread dainty wings
To hover round such lovely things.

"Arise!" the faintest note came cried,
And, peeping through the casements, tried
To flash their rays upon each place
Where lay a little sleeping face.
And called again, as shining eyes
Woke and looked at the bright day.
"Come, wake, little playmate dear,
To see the dawn of a new day."
—Constant M. Lowe, in Cassell's Little Folks.

Dr. G. Goldstein Will Return
August 11th and Remain
Two Days.

The abuse of that delicate organ, the eye, is a prevalent sin of this country. The Germans had a wise saying, "Touch not the eye except with your elbow." That is equivalent to saying don't touch your eye at all. Still further caution in reference to the eye is illustrated in the experience of those negligent persons who grope through life, straining and ruining the sight, instead of consulting upon the first sign of weakness, and resorting to watering. Another fatal mistake is made by clinging too long to a favorite pair of glasses that may have once suited the conditions of sight and opened a new view of the world and things present, but alas the days have sped by and age has so changed the retina as to render the glasses worse than useless. Properly adjusted glasses will most certainly preserve the eye while any other kind of glasses will be worse than none at all.

Let us advise those who are the least interested in this article to avail themselves of an opportunity to consult Dr. G. Goldstein and allow him to straighten the matter out with you in short order. He is reliable and his skill is fully and thoroughly established throughout the territory in which he has practiced. He will be at Hotel Latham.

Ordinance.

Whereas it is deemed desirable that a certain Territory lying on the South side of the corporate limits of the city of Hopkinsville, Ky., between Virginia street and the Cox Mill road, consisting of about six acres and bounded and described as follows: Beginning in the corner of Cox Mill road opposite the corner post between the lands of M. F. Crenshaw and J. B. Trice; thence with said line S. 13 E. 21 poles and 14 links; thence S. 12 E. 13 poles and 12 links with said Trice line to the corner between said Crenshaw and J. B. Trice; thence S. 75 E. 12.56 poles to Virginia street where the corporate line now crosses said street; thence N. 60 W. 89 poles with the city line to the beginning be annexed to the city of Hopkinsville, Ky.

It is therefore ordained by the Board of Commissioners of the city of Hopkinsville, Ky.

That upon its own motion a certain territory lying South of the corporate limits of the city of Hopkinsville, Ky., between Virginia street and Cox Mill road, consisting of about six acres and bounded and described as follows: Beginning in the corner of Cox Mill road opposite the corner post between the lands of M. F. Crenshaw and J. B. Trice; thence with said line S. 13 E. 21 poles and 14 links; thence S. 12 E. 13 poles and 12 links with said Trice line to the corner between said Crenshaw and J. B. Trice; thence S. 75 E. 12.56 poles to Virginia street where the corporate line now crosses said street; thence N. 60 W. 89 poles with the city line to the beginning be annexed to the city of Hopkinsville, Ky.

This ordinance to take effect from and after its passage.

Attest: Approved: CHAS. S. JACKSON, JOSEPH HENRY, Clerk, Mayor.

Of Course You Want the Best.

Those who are looking forward to an outing will make no mistake in arranging to go on the personally conducted trip to Old Point Comfort, Aug. 19th. There is more to be seen than can possibly be enumerated in such small space.

The most beautiful scenery in route on the famous Chesapeake and Ohio Ry., with its many delightful watering resorts and noted battle fields. After arriving at Old Point you find a perfect net work of deepest interest. The palatial hotels, Fort Monroe, Virginia Beach with its long sweep of sixteen miles of ocean front, Portsmouth Navy yard where can be found some of our wonderful ships of war, together with many other attractions. Then Washington, with its own peculiar charms is within easy access, and should be visited. A delightful ocean voyage can be taken within the limit of the tickets, and on the whole the trip is filled with interest from start to finish.

A Successful Chase
Reminiscence of an Indian
Military Police Officer
By JUNGUL WALLAH.

AFTER the capture of Lucknow military police battalions were raised to perform a large part of the duties entrusted to the native army before the mutiny. I had been serving with the brigades of Havelock and Outram, as a volunteer in Havelock's cavalry, better known as Havelock's Horse, and for my services had been rewarded with an adjutant of the military police, an appointment which in those days was considered one of the plumes of the service. On joining the headquarters of Chumuckpur, I found that the corps consisted of over 1,000 infantry and 500 cavalry, with a fair number of native officers; besides the commandant, a full colonel, and a second in command, ranging as much as adjutant, I held the rank of captain. Our duties were to guard the treasury, jail, and all the government offices, and to hunt down the numerous mutinous native soldiers and gangs of noted dacoits or highway robbers who were creating great havoc all over the country. It took us a good part of the year 1858 as well as the whole of 1859 and 1860 to clear the country of these scoundrels.

In September, 1858, a month after I had joined, information was brought in to us by a native spy that a noted leader of rebel cavalry named Feroze Shah, had crossed the Ganges the previous night, and was coming for Cawnpore to join the native general, Tantia Toppe.

Feroze Shah had got across at a ford some four miles above Futtighur, by the previous day, met Sir Colin Campbell's forces at Shahjahanpur, in Rohilkhand, and received a good drubbing for his pains. So he had made up his mind to make a dash for it and, consequently, Tantia Toppe. To effect this he had to cross two large rivers, the Ganges and the Jumna, which were about a hundred miles apart but the country was in his favor. He had some 500 men with him, all of them mounted, and was putting on the pace as much as his horses and men could stand, doing so at 40 miles a day; so it stood to reason that if we were to come up to him we would have to hurry. We therefore decided not to take any infantry with us, and within half an hour from the time that we received our information we were off. Our commanding officer judged that our only chance of catching the enemy was to cut him off from the rear. He was coming from the north on the Jumna was some 30 miles from Chumuckpur. After getting over the first 16 miles, at a steady trot, we found a village where we had a strong military outpost, and halted for the first time but within an hour we were on our way again, having given our men a light refreshment of parched peas and sugar-balls, and the horses a good feed of grain.

Before starting we made the native officer in charge of the outpost fully understood that Feroze Shah was in the neighborhood, and that he was to be as well as on the alert. After we had got about eight miles from the outpost we came across the main road that runs from Cawnpore to Agra, when we observed that some 300 or 400 natives had collected about 600 yards down the road towards Agra. A halt was sounded, and a couple of scouts sent to find out whether any of the men seemed to be armed. In a very short time the scouts returned and reported that the men were unarmed; that, in fact, they had collected round two stage coaches without horses, and that somebody had been killed. After receiving this information we moved off at a trot ahead of the regiment, and quickly got into the rear of the two stage coaches (stage coaches). To our horror, we saw the bodies of two British officers and several men of the native rebel cavalry lying near the coaches.

The headman of the village came up at once, and said: "This is the work of Feroze Shah and his party, who came down the road about half an hour ago from the Futtighur direction, and overtook these officers, shooting both of them and a driver. The party went straight towards the Jumna." He added that the deceased officers had made a desperate resistance, having shot no less than eight of Feroze Shah's followers and three horses. These were the only dead on the road. We found out later that the officers were traveling from Cawnpore to Delhi to join their regiments, and that they had been warned by the civil authorities at Cawnpore that the road was not safe, as the rebel cavalry were proving about but the kindness of the poor fellows to get to their regiment, which was on active service, was so great that they made up their minds to take their chance. Alas, such a fate!

We were not long in starting after Feroze Shah, and the pace had to be made pretty fast if we were to overtake and cut off the rebels before they reached the Jumna. In fact, we rode as if for our lives instead of going by the usual direct route we took one across country, hoping thereby to get first to the ford. This we did not actually succeed in doing, but we overtook the enemy crossing the ford. Then such a melee took place as I had never seen before, though I had been told of the great deal of severe fighting with Havelock's force at the relief of Lucknow and at the final capture of that city under Outram.

The river was only four feet deep at the ford; but here and there deeper pools had been formed by the rain, and in these many men and horses on both sides were drowned. The enemy dashed into the river at a gallop, and we followed them to the same point. In a few minutes there was a mass of glittering swords, men slashing at each other, horses neighing, troopers shouting, and the air was filled with the sound of the sword on the helmet, and the sound of the bullet on the body. In a few minutes the enemy was cut down by one of our native troopers named Azeem Khan, who had not been disabled by a bullet, but that he had no effect on the brave fellow, as he still rode on, cheering his warriors on to follow him. I am glad to say that he was awarded the order of merit (first class)—the Indian Victoria Cross.

The enemy suffered severely, and so did we. Amongst our losses was our beloved second in command, who was cut down by Feroze Shah just before Azeem Khan got up to him. However, I will not enter into a detailed account of the casualties, for the list would be heavy; but this brilliant affair put a stop to any of those who escaped ever assembling again against the British government.

Having ridden for about three hours, and fought a hard battle against great odds, our commanding officer decided that we should bivouac for the night on the banks of the river, and accept of the kind hospitality offered by the inhabitants of the surrounding villages. We found some heavy work before we lit our pipes, and talked over the camp-fires of the events of the day, as soldiers always do, until midnight, when we wrapped our "marl cloak" around us and slept the sleep of the just.

The next day we started back to headquarters, but we took three days to get there, as our men and horses had had enough of rapid marching. On arrival at Cawnpore we found some heavy work before we lit our pipes, and talked over the camp-fires of the events of the day, as soldiers always do, until midnight, when we wrapped our "marl cloak" around us and slept the sleep of the just.

Perfect Health Restored.

"Several years ago I met with an accident which caused falling of the stomach, writes Mrs. F. H. McMillan, Secretary of the Young Women's Tennis Club, and residing at 113 Newberry Avenue, Chicago, Ill. 'Did not pay any attention to it until I felt pain, and ulceration and inflammation set in. Was so weak that I was obliged to be in bed most of the time. Luckily for me I tried Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which cured me completely after using it only a little over three months. I have had perfect health since, and have every reason to believe that your medicine will surely cure female troubles.'"

Miss Blanche M. Dracy

In Excellent Health, Now.

"In the fall of 1897, I was, troubled with nervousness, headache, heart trouble, and female weakness," writes Miss Blanche M. Dracy, of Sals, Oswego County, N. Y. Last summer I wrote you your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I began to improve rapidly. Continued taking the medicines, half-a-dozen each of 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery' for the space of four or five months, and in less than a year had regained my former health. You have my heartfelt thanks for what your remedies have done for me. I am in excellent health now, but am still using your 'Pleasant Pills.'"

"Sick Women Made Well."

How much that sentence means. The difference between the life of a sickly and healthy woman is the difference between the darkened room and the out-door sunshine; the sick bed and the bicycle; the tennis court and a parlor. And to that difference must be added the aching back, headache, nervousness, and general suffering inevitably associated with womanly diseases. A sick woman is like one who has fallen into a pit in the midst of a beautiful landscape. As she lies there crippled and helpless she can see the blue sky and sunshine overhead, and hear the songs of happy birds, and in an agony of longing to be free, she cries feebly for help to lift her once more to the fair world and human companionship. That is the one need of the sick woman—HELP. She cannot regain lost health without it, and it should be a comfort to every sick woman to know that help she needs to lift her up from sickness to health is to be found in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The history of this remarkable medicine is written by women themselves in multitudes of grateful letters. These letters reveal experiences of great suffering from womanly diseases. But the motive of the letters is not to dwell upon past suffering, but to say a word of gratitude and praise for perfect health and healing by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Some of these letters we have the privilege of publishing in spite of the aversion of many women to even this slight publicity, because they write, "I want other sick women to know of this wonderful cure of womanly ills, and to find health as I have."

Let it be remembered that every promise made for "Favorite Prescription" goes hand in hand with performance. Do you really want it? What cure you? Whatever your case or condition, if it is curable by medicine, it can be cured by "Favorite Prescription." It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. Women who are weak and run-down, whether from work or worry, will find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a perfect tonic and nerve. It restores the appetite, tranquilizes the nerves, and induces refreshing sleep.

Any sick woman who is suffering from disease in aggravated and chronic form is cordially invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for sick women.

Eliza Grier, a colored woman and a physician, was a native of Mecklenburg county, died in Albany, Ga., recently, in her thirty-ninth year. She was a daughter of George Washington Grier, of Matthews, and has had, says the Charlotte (N. C.) Observer, a distinguished career. When young she was graduated with honors at Scotia seminary, in Calmar county. She was afterward graduated from Fisk university, studying medicine, and subsequently took a post graduate course in medicine at another college. She stood a flattering examination before the medical board of South Carolina and practiced medicine at Greenville for a short while. She then went to Georgia and located in Atlanta, after having passed an examination before the Georgia medical board. Some years ago she moved to Albany, Ga., and practiced her profession there until her death. She left considerable property.

THE MODERN FATHER.

Disposes of Young Suitor's Request with Businesslike Precision.

"Did you call on her father this morning?" "Yes, I did, and my head is whirling yet."

"Didn't use violence, did he?" "Violence! I guess not. I went into his office all right. I had written asking for an appointment, and he at once pulled his watch on me, and said: 'I can give you just seven minutes. Talk fast.' Well, say, that rattled me so that I could only stammer. 'You want to marry my daughter, don't you?' he abruptly asked. I said I did. 'Anything else?' he roared. 'That's all,' I hastily said. He made a hurried memorandum. 'Did you put your request in writing?' I told him I hadn't done so. 'How irregular,' he snarled, and made another memorandum. 'When?' he yelled. 'When Miss Amy is ready,' I replied. 'She says June,' he snorted, and made another memorandum. 'Where do you want to go on your wedding journey?' he cried. 'Wherever Amy wants to go,' I murmured. 'She's going abroad,' he said, and worked away at another memorandum. 'One first-class suite on steamship Adriatic, June 23. I'll order it to-day. Anything else?' he growled. 'No, thank you,' I said. Then he put on a clammy hand. 'Glad to know you,' he said. 'Come in again some time when I'm not so busy. That's all. See you in June, I suppose. Good-day.' And I found myself gasping outside the door."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

AN ERRONEOUS CONCLUSION.

The Fashionable Young Lady and Her Pique.

A fashionable young lady who was recently married was visited the other day by an old lady friend, who was shocked to see the youthful wife with "two lovely black eyes."

"Oh, dear, Matilda," exclaimed the excited old lady, "have you and Tom quarreled already?"

"Oh, Mrs. B., we were just having a—"

"Who would have thought that Tom was such a villain!" retorted the confiding visitor, interrupting the explanation.

"Oh, no," the young wife ventured to explain again, "Tom is not so bad as that, Mrs. B. It was only in a—"

"I can't forgive him. The wretch to strike any defenseless woman!" interrupted the excited old lady once more.

The amused young woman tried again to explain, and smilingly responded: "Tom didn't strike me, Mrs. B."

"He didn't strike you? Then how did he blacken your eyes?" inquired the curious matron.

"Oh," laughed the young lady, "you're being entirely mistaken. I was simply an accident. Tom and I were only playing at ping-pong."—London Answers.

Australian Women's Vote Growing

An Australian newspaper tells of some curious facts shown by the new electoral rolls of South Australia. The number of men on the rolls has shrunk, in a little over three years, from 83,640 to 76,767. On the other hand the women voters have increased during the same period from 68,375 to 71,682. In the three chief metropolitan districts the men voters have dropped from 36,587 to 30,484, a reduction of nearly 16 per cent. Women voters in the same districts have slightly increased their numbers, and now count no less than 32,691. The women seem to be growing more conscientious in the fulfillment of their political duties, and the men more careless. These figures, if authentic, are an interesting commentary on the old heard prediction that if women were given the ballot they would not take the trouble to use it.

When equal suffrage was granted in New Zealand, the estimated number of adult women in the country was 139,915. Of these 109,461 registered to vote. Of the women who registered, 83 per cent. voted; of the men who registered, only 67 per cent.

According to the report of the Wyoming Secretary of State, 90 per cent. of the women voted. In Denver, at the election last November, 31,780 men voted, and 23,449 women.

The Tariff is the Test.

Representative Griggs, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee, loses no time in reminding the Republicans and President Roosevelt how open to ridicule they will be for, suddenly discovering that there is need of federal legislation against trusts. Do they want to make the campaign one huge joke? Or is their anti-trust demonstration merely a passing fancy? Mr. Griggs puts the case pungently. While actually in session, with Congress in their complete control, the Republicans did not lift a finger, did not even pop or mutter, against the trusts. On the contrary, they applied their fine brute majority to voting down every proposition looking toward a successful anti-trust policy.—New York Post (Rep.)

DEMOCRATIC TICKET

FOR JUDGE COURT OF APPEALS,
JUDGE THOS. J. NUNN,
OF HOPKINS COUNTY.FOR CONGRESS,
HON. A. O. STANLEY,
OF HENDERSON COUNTY.

ARE THE PEOPLE PLEASED?

Under the heading "Pleased People," the New Era of Wednesday published the following remarkable compilation of errors:"At the adjourned meeting of the city council last night the telephone question was decided in a manner that will meet with the general approbation of the citizens of Hopkinsville. The city entered into a contract with the Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph company that insures a first class service in every way and at reduced prices.""Last Friday night, the council, being aware that the Cumberland company owned a franchise to do business here, purchased from the East Tennessee Telephone company in 1893, and knowing well that the citizens were greatly opposed to the prospect of having the company contend with the annoyances of two telephone systems, rejected the $3 bid of J. E. Mott, of Huntington, Ind., for a franchise.""Last night, by its attorney, Mr.
Hunter Wood, the Cumberland Telephone Co., notwithstanding that it owned a valid franchise, used the law to time and unrestricted as to terms, submitted to the council a proposition in reference to its business in this city that is practically the same agreement which was first determined on by the citizen's committee and the representatives of the Cumberland. The council accepted this proposition and it was formally adopted in the shape of an ordinance."In this whole statement of alleged facts there is hardly an atom of truth.The deal made was not a legal contract, but an unlawful and unconstitutional grant, made over the protest of the people of Hopkinsville.There is no reduction of prices,
the only concession being a change of instruments a year hence.The Cumberland company has not since Aug 2 owned any franchise in the city and is today without legal standing in Hopkinsville.The Cumberland Co., never at any time purchased a franchise from the East Tennessee company, for the reason that the franchise of that company was repealed 15 years ago and its poles declared a nuisance and ordered removed.The people are not opposed to the Mott franchise, because most of the business men, patrons of the Cumberland, have entered into a contract to patronize the proposed new company.The Cumberland company cannot under the constitution and charter renew or extend an exclusive franchise and it cannot obtain any franchise without buying its rights in the open market.Stripped of these errors, the only fact remaining is that the council met.There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constant failure to cure, with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J.
Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system.

Impaired Digestion

Now, but it will be it neglected.

The uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, sourness of the stomach, and disagreeable belching may be very bad now, but they will be if the stomach is suffered to grow weaker.Dyspepsia is such a miserable disease that the remedy to it should be given early attention. This is completely overcome by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

which strengthens the whole digestive system

The Cumberland company acquired no rights from the East Tennessee company. Such a company was granted the "privilege" of operating an exchange in Hopkinsville Feb. 7, 1882. For awhile it did operate and the fact is, On Feb. 1, 1887, the council called upon it to appear and show cause why it should not have its "privilege" annulled. The company failed to appear and July 5, 1887, four months later, the council recited its failure to do so and formally annulled and repealed its franchise by the following ordinance:"Whereas said poles and wires are in the way and inconvenient to have in the city with no benefit being derived therefrom."Therefore it is now ordained by the Board of Council of the city of Hopkinsville that said poles and poles and wires are hereby declared a nuisance and the owner or owners thereof are required to remove said poles and wires within sixty days from this date."On the same page appears this:
"S. H. Turner for himself and associates having applied to this board for the exclusive right for the period of 15 years to run and operate
a telephone exchange in this city, said franchise is here granted to said Turner upon such terms, conditions and stipulations as may be agreed upon between him and this board at its next regular meeting, or at a called meeting prior to the next regular meeting, but the city nor this board is not in any way to be liable to said Turner in case it may hereafter be determined that this board has no legal right to grant said franchise to said Turner."One month later, after examining the legal aspects of the case, the council did grant the promised franchise, a part of section 1 reading as follows:"That said S. H. Turner and his associates are hereby granted the EXCLUSIVE right for and during the period of 15 years from this date
to operate a telephone exchange in said city."It not only repealed the old franchise but made the new one exclusive, thus destroying the last vestige of the rights claimed by Mr.
Wood, under the alleged purchase from the East Tenu Co.
6 years later. The Cumberland bought the exclusive franchise from Turner's assigns knowing it to be exclusive, and its present claim to a "valid unlimited and unrestricted franchise" rests on no firmer ground than the unsupported word of its own attorney.In addition to the fact that the Cumberland's franchise no longer exists, the further fact is proven by the records that the Cumberland had forfeited its rights years ago by collecting money for services required to be free under the terms of the franchise and by charging exorbitant rates. This is a condition of its franchise:"The owners shall not charge higher rates for telephone service or use of instruments than is usually charged by telephone exchanges doing good services in other cities of like size and like number of phones, and the owners and operators of said exchange shall furnish the city at police headquarters
the use of said telephone exchange and instruments free of charge."It can be proven that the rates
here are higher and the service poorer than in many cities of the same size on the Cumberland's lines and the city has for years been required to pay for the use of its phone at police headquarters, as shown by receipted bills on file.Councilman Jackson pleaded for a postponement in order that the council might act advisedly, but the alleged grant was hurried through without investigation and the city will be fortunate if the bad advice given its councilmen, and so readily accepted, does not involve the taxpayers in expensive and burdensome litigation.No wonder the people are characterizing the alleged contract as the most high-handed proceeding ever given official countenance in Hopkinsville.It was all a mistake: Bailey has not made up with Beveridge and Beveridge will not take the stump
in Texas.The advocates of a State primary election to nominate Democratic candidates for State officers can now go away back and squat down
Section five of the party law knocks

constitution perhaps have no hesitation in violating or seeking to violate Section five of the party law.—

Only a Mask.

Many are not being benefited by the summer vacation as they should be. Now, notwithstanding such outdoor life, they are little if any stronger than they were. The tan on their faces is darker and makes them look healthier, but it is only a mask. They are still nervous, easily tired, upset by trifles, and they do not eat nor sleep well.
What they need is what tones the nerves, perfects digestion, creates appetite and makes sleep refreshing, and that is Hood's Sarsaparilla.
Pupils and teachers generally will find the chief purpose of the vacation best subserved by this great medicine which, as we know, builds up the whole system.

Hygeia Hotel to be Moved Across
Water.The Hygeia Hotel at Old Point Comfort, one of the largest in the United States, is to be moved eight miles across Hampton roads. The moving of frame and brick buildings several aquans is an easy thing for the modern engineer, but rarely is a building moved across such an immense stretch of water.
The Hygeia is a frame building 400 feet long and the engineers have a difficult task before them. It will be hard enough to move the building from its present foundations to rafts or boats, but the transportation to Willoughby Spit, eight miles away, is the really hazardous part of the undertaking. Willoughby Spit has offered $50,000 to the Hygeia's owner if they will deliver the big hotel safe and sound.

Coughing

"I was given up to die with quick consumption. I then began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I improved at once, and am now in perfect health."—Chas. E. Hartman, Gibbstown, N. Y.

It's too risky, playing with your cough.

The first thing you know it will be down deep in your lungs and the play will be over. Begin early with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and stop the cough.

There is no cure so much for an ordinary cough, but just right for bronchitis, hoarseness, hard colds, etc., by most modern doctors for chronic cases and be kept on hand.

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED

At Panama, Columbia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. H. Utter, a prominent physician, of Panama, Columbia, in a recent letter states: "Last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentery. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by J. C. K. Wyly.

APPENDICITIS.

Some Facts Regarding Its Rapid Increase.

Appendicitis among Americans is certainly increasing and while this is probably due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is more often directly traceable to constipation. Appendicitis is caused by extraneous matter entering the vermiform appendix and not by the swallowing of seeds. If the digestive organs are kept in perfect condition so the food is duly assimilated and the bowels moved gently, at least once a day, appendicitis will never develop. Don't take chances. Regular doses of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin before meals will strengthen the organs of digestion, your appetite will be good, constipation disappears and you feel better in every way. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin does not relax the bowels by irritation, but by curing indigestion, the cause of constipation. All druggists sell it in 50c and $1.00 bottles, under a positive guarantee. Write for book of testimonials to Pepsin Syrup Co., Dept. 5, Monticello, Ill.

GREATEST IN HISTORY

Will The Elk's Fair at Lexington be Next Week.—Great Stock Entries and Unvalued Amusement.

The greatest Fair in their history is what the Lexington Elks expect to give next week. Everything is in readiness for the big show and nothing will rival it in Kentucky this year.

President Harbison says the horse shows will be bigger and the cattle shows better than ever, and this with the daily automobile races, band concerts, running races, trotting special rings and other varied amusements offered should go to make up one of the best shows of the kind ever attempted.

The first day, August 11, at the fair will be devoted to harness horses. The rings will be for colts, stallions, mares and geldings up to three years old. For the best harness tandems $120 in premiums will be given.

They will be set aside for Aberdeen-Angus cattle, mules, saddle horses, high stepping harness horses, roadster horses and the like. The premiums are all good for these rings.

Wednesday August 13 will be Short horn cattle day, with a splendid list of classes. Saddle horses, high-steppers, and general harness horses.

Thursday will be given up to the stock rings for Hereford cattle, roadster horses, horses and runabouts, high-stepping harness horses, saddle horses and saddle horses.

Friday, Shetland ponies will be shown in addition to walking, saddle, harness and roadster horses. The best boy rider under 12 will receive $20; the second premium being $15; and the third $5. A mule race will be the closing feature of the afternoon this day.

Saturday will begin with the exhibition of dairy cattle, thoroughbred and various other kinds of horses. The beautiful Lawrence Jones champion $300 cup, with reserve ribbon to second, offered by Mr. Lawrence Jones of Louisville, for the best high-stepping harness horse at the show, will be awarded this day, in addition to the Grand $500 Challenge Cup, offered by W. D. Grand, of the American Horse Exchange, New York, for the best walk, trot and canter saddle horse at the fair. Only horses in the Southern and Middle States are eligible to competition for this cup. The trophy must also be won twice by the same owner before it becomes his property.

The speed ring programme will be one of the best ever seen at the Lexington fair.

DEMOCRATS TO WIN.

Congressional Elections Appear Safe for the Party.

Members of the Democratic and Republican congressional committees respectively, are already beginning to undertake to figure out the political division of the next house of representatives, which is to be elected in the fall. Both parties are making claim to the control of the lower branch of congress. The Republican managers profess to believe that the next house will be easily Republican, although they do not claim their majority will be more than 22. The Republican majority in the present house is 47, and, taking into consideration the fact that the next house, by virtue of the apportionment act passed by the Fifty-sixth congress, will have 29 more members than the present house, it is plain that they figure on heavy losses throughout the country. On the other hand, at Democratic headquarters in Washington a most sanguine outlook prevails over the outlook for party gains, and preliminary estimates place the Democratic majority in the next house at 35.

NO RELIEF

From The Present High Telephone Rates.

The Cumberland Dictates Its Own Terms in a Private Contract.

The Cumberland Telephone Company, which refused to bid on the franchise sold under the order of the Council July 24, played the card it had up its sleeve at a special meeting of the council Tuesday night.

It secured the adoption of an ordinance prepared by itself, fixing its own prices at the present high rates and practically extending its expired exclusive franchise indefinitely, without the formality of a sale and with no consideration whatever. By refusing to admit competition and renewing the exclusive franchise that expired August 2, the council handed the people over to the tender mercies of a corporation that has exacted exorbitant prices for obsolete instruments and indifferent service. The only conditions granted by the company receiving this valuable donation are that it promises within 12 months to replace the old and out-of-date instruments with new ones, to reduce party lines inside the city to two to the line and bind itself not to increase its rates beyond the present figures, which are now 50c to $1 higher per phone, than the new company represented by J. E. Mott accepted as its maximum charges. As there are 600 phones in the local exchange, this donation by the council represents a cash outlay by the people of $300 to $500 a month, with no prospect of relief during the life of the present council.

Mr. R. E. Cooper, chairman of the committee of citizens appointed to petition the Council for relief, which committee was backed up by a majority of the voters in the several wards with strong petitions, appeared before the council and begged that body to listen to the voice of the people.

Some very plain language was used by Mr. Cooper who was assisted by Mr. Jno. T. Edmunds, attorney for J. E. Mott. By a vote of 5 to 2 Cumberland, scheme was put through. Councilmen Whitlow, Davis, Galbreath, West and Glass voted aye. Councilmen Jackson and Duncan voted no.

The Cumberland Company some weeks ago notified the council that its franchise was about to expire and the council ordered a sale without restrictions, the Cumberland of course expecting to renew its franchise without opposition. But the people took the matter up and a mass meeting was held and the council petitioned to protect the public from corporate oppression in the sale of the future franchise. The committee appointed by the citizens met with Cumberland officials and tried to secure reasonable concessions, but failed. The Cumberland attorneys labored industriously with the council to secure an agreement in advance of the public sale of the franchise, but this was made it was not divulged to Mr. Mott, who in good faith bought the franchise sold by the mayor at public outcry, after the council had apparently acquired it in the expressed will of the people. The purchase of the franchise, which had been strengthened by the written obligation of practically all of the business men to patronize the purchaser, was evidently an unexpected sequel to the fight for relief. If ratified—and Mr. Mott promptly paid the purchase price and offered to give bond—the long sought relief was in sight. He promised to begin work within thirty days and put in at once—a year hence—an improved system, backed by a strong corporation, willing and able to compete with the Cumberland in its official headquarters, at a guaranteed saving to the people on the present basis of from $3,600 to $6,000 a year, to say nothing of its superior service. Confronted by this condition of things, the Cumberland changed its tactics. Although its attorney stated before the council that its franchise was about to expire, although the council after mature consideration accepted this as a fact and ordered the sale and actually sell the franchise and accept the money therefor, the Cumberland next came forward with the ridiculous claim that a permit given a defunct company in 1882 to erect poles and string wires in the streets at a time when the constitution did not require the sale of franchises, was in effect a perpetual franchise to the Cumberland Company, which claims to have bought out the former East Tennessee Company. The permit was given before the granting of the S. H. Turner franchise, under which the Cumberland has been operating and was in no sense an ordinance or a franchise. It was such a permit as would be given a citizen to erect a hitching post in front of his door.

But something had to be done and any old pretext was better than none and so three days after the franchise had expired the council was convened and the unlawful extension granted. The council complacently reversed itself, set aside its own action in selling a franchise and entered into a contract with a company that refused to go into the open market and buy a franchise it attempted to acquire in a private deal. It is not believed that Mr. Mott will tamely submit, and the business men of Hopkinsville stand ready to back his company with their moral support and patronage.

Literary Item.

The movement in the Catholic church back to the personal Christ has found its first exemplification in a noble volume on the Life of Christ by Rev. Walter Elliott, the well-known Paulist, whose Life of Father Hecker created such a stir a year or so ago through a faulty translation into the French.

Elliott's Life of Christ has been out only two months, and it has already reached its third edition. While it stands for strict orthodoxy, yet it has a great deal that is new in its presentation of the various aspects of the Saviour's Life and Teaching.

It is issued from the Paulist Fathers' own press, at 120 West 60th Street, New York, and has nearly a thousand line-cut engravings.

Don't be Cheap.

Some people in Hopkinsville will send their work out of town, some few will carry their work to foreigners, (where 25c to 50c, or less, of water is used to do $50 to $75 of work—ask Health officer). Now these same parties, when a member of their family gets sick or wants to leave the city and wanting laundry in a hurry, they brace up and carry their work to the Hopkinsville Steam Laundry. Now, why not do the white thing and give the institution your work all the time, and not make it a matter of convenience. Anyone can do better laundry work in two days than they can in one day. So if you are suited by the Hopkinsville Steam Laundry with work they get out in one day, you certainly can on two days work be still better pleased.

Pardoned Murderer's Crime.

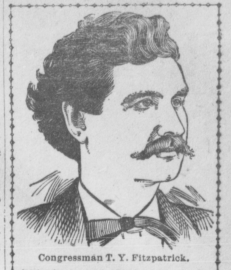

Dick Venson, pardoned from the penitentiary three weeks ago, where he had been sent for murder, met Joseph Sweetman, the attorney who had prosecuted him on the street in Ashland Saturday, knocked him down and plunged a knife into his shoulder. It is convicts of this kind for whom the greatest pressure for pardon is always being brought and who are generally the kind that are granted pardons. Why not allow the few murderers who are convicted in this state to remain in prison? Every time one is liberated other lives are jeopardized. We need to arouse a public sentiment in Kentucky that will put a stop to such practices as this.—Owensboro Messenger.

The West Kentucky operated several exchanges, all of which are included in the deal.—Fulton Leader.

CONGRESSMAN FITZPATRICK

Says Pe-ru-na is a Splendid Cathartic Tonic.

Congressman T. Y. Fitzpatrick.

"At the solicitation of a friend I used your Peru-na and can cheerfully recommend your remedy to anyone suffering with catarrh or who needs a good tonic."—T. Y. FITZPATRICK.

A Good Tonic. Peru-na is a natural and efficient nerve tonic. It strengthens and restores the activity of every nerve in the body.

Through the use of Peru-na the weakened or overworked nerves resume their natural strength and the blood vessels begin at once to regulate the flow of blood according to nature's laws. Congestions immediately disappear.

All phases of catarrh, acute or chronic, are promptly and permanently cured. It is through its operation upon the nervous system that Peru-na has attained such a world-wide reputation as a sure and reliable remedy for all phases of catarrh wherever located.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice free.

RADICALS IN POWER.

New French Ministry Has Several Strong Points.

Premier Combes Has Gathered Advisees Near to Him the Most Anticipated Cabinet France Has Had.

The ministry, of which M. Emile Combes is the chief, and which is the first cabinet that has existed in France since the downfall of the empire on September 4, 1871, is described as "the most radical and most anti-clerical cabinet" that has yet been constituted. If the electrifying posters and speeches of the individual members of the ministry be taken into account, there might be cause for alarm lest radical or socialist theories propounded at the hustings be put into execution and render practical economical government impossible. But responsibility of office, and the collective common sense of a dozen experienced, quick-witted men, now, on many other occasions in France, is likely to furnish the requisite ballast and give stability to the new cabinet even if this were not already guaranteed by the retention of M. Delcasse at the foreign office, and of the presence of such a sound business man as M. Rouvier at the ministry of finance. M. Emile Combes, who succeeds M. Waldeck-Rousseau as prime minister, is a man of retiring disposition, scarcely known outside the senate, where he was often vice president, and where for five years he has been the recognized leader of the radical group. In spite of his 67 years "Pere Combes," as he is called at the Luxembourg palace, is vigorous and energetic. He is a white-haired, wiry man, five feet three inches in height. His bright, sparkling eyes are half concealed by gold eyeglasses, and he glides about at a rapid pace, often with a book or portfolio under his arm, like a little white mouse. He was brought up in the Roman Catholic seminary at Albi, and his parents intended him for the church. He has been village physician, and a schoolmaster. During his political career he made a specialty of public education, and in the short-lived radical ministry of Leon Bourgeois in 1895 he was minister of that department. M. Combes is a personal friend of President Loubet, and also of M. Waldeck-Rousseau, who first suggested his name as the man most likely to succeed in forming a cabinet representing the radical majority of the new parliament. M. Combes set about his task with characteristic energy. He jumped into a cab, accompanied by his son, spent the day driving about ringing the door bells of radical leaders, and conferring with such men as MM. Bourgeois, Sarrien, Vaile, Trouillot, Delcasse and Gen. Andre.

In the formation of his cabinet, which was effected in the unprecedented period of 48 hours, M. Combes followed on all essential points the advice of M. Waldeck-Rousseau. M. Combes is not a brilliant orator, but has a logical, businesslike way of stating a case that carries with it sympathy and conviction. He is by no means an ambitious man, and in the lobbies of the chamber it is whispered that M. Rouvier, to whom he entrusted the portfolio of finance, will soon supplant him as prime minister. Combes is an out-and-out radical and anti-clerical, and proposes to deal immediately with the questions of state monopoly of education and the repeal of the Falloux law on favorable to the religious orders.

M. Combes, physically, is the smallest member of the cabinet. He lives modestly, near the senate house. He is president of the democratic group in the senate. The positions he has held—chairman of the committee of the law of associations and reporter of the bill on secondary education—marked him out for the premiership.

Felt Hat a Life Preserver.
It is not generally known that what a person falls into the water a common felt hat may be made use of as a life preserver, and by placing the hat upon the water, rim down, the person will float, pressing it slightly to the breast, it will bear a man up for hours.

New Kind of Pavement.
Compressed grass has been used in the construction of a Philadelphia street. It is said, admirable results; and not long since a scheme for employing compressed paper for a like purpose was mooted in Russia.

Pitching hay is hard work for anyone, but for the man who has the least tendency to bronchitis it is dangerous, because of the small particles of dust and chaff which are inhaled and greatly irritate the throat.

Bronchitis and other diseases of the organs of respiration are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This great remedy is not to be classed with common cough medicines, which are mainly opiates. There is no opium in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it is entirely free from cocaine and all other narcotics. It is a non-alcoholic and non-narcotic medicine. It heals the inflamed tissues, cures obstinate, deep-seated coughs, bleeding lungs and other conditions, which, if neglected or unskillfully treated, terminate fatally in consumption.

"I wrote to you for advice and you advised me to take 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets,' which I did, and to my surprise got well," writes Mr. Joseph A. Valliere, of Forman, Ill. (Box 3). "Had what the doctors called bronchitis, and whenever I would take cold would suffer greatly, but since taking two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and one bottle of his 'Pleasant Pellets' have been cured of that terrible trouble. Before taking your medicine I weighed one hundred and twenty pounds; now weigh one hundred and thirty."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose. Therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cleanse the system from accumulated impurities.

Coal Office Removal.

I have moved by coal office to the Underwood yard on the L. & N. R. R., near "Acme Mills."

I take this method of thanking you for the business you gave me last season. I certainly needed it, and as "a friend in need is a friend indeed" I certainly appreciated it. I am in much better position to serve you now, as I have made my arrangements to sell the best coal on the market. I have had my scales cleaned and tested as the following certificate of which this is a copy, is held by me and posted at my office.

Louisville, Ky., June 11, 1902. We have this day tested this scale and the same is correct.
Fairbanks, Morse & Co.
Signed, Geo. B. Woodware, Agt.

When I sell you "lump" coal you get lump coal and not "mixed" coal, and the other grades the same way. I am in the coal business to stay and expect to make my living out of it. I want your trader; I will appreciate it if you treat me honestly. If you want your coal house filled now is the time to see me.

Very truly yours,
H. H. ABERNATHY, Agt.
TURNING WHITE.

Tennessee Negro Changing the Color of His Skin and is Now Pretty Near White.

Bethel, Tenn., Aug. 5.—A full-blooded Ethiopian of this place, familiarly known as "Uncle Felix" Brown is undergoing the rare experience of metamorphosis of pigmentation. His epidermis is changing from an ebony hue to a clarified cream color. The change comes in patches and his skin looks like a leopard's. He suffers no pain and the disease has been working two years. Ultimately he will be a white man. He is a much respected honest farmer, who has the esteem of black and white.

Another New Law.

The last legislature passed the following law:

"That any person who shall sell, dispose of or convert to his or her use, or the use of another, any money, property or other thing of value, without the consent of the owner thereof, shall be punished by confinement in the penitentiary for not less than one nor more than five years, if the money, property or anything of value so sold, disposed of or converted to his or her own use, be of the value of two dollars or more, or be confined in the county jail for not less than one nor more than twelve months if the value be less than two dollars."

YOUNG PEOPLE

Of Gracey Enjoy a Picnic at Cerulean Springs.

Gracey, Ky., Aug. 4.—The old adage that Friday is either the fairest or the foulest day of the week certainly proved true the first of August, when, after a week of cloudy days, the sun shone bright and clear.

This was noticed particularly by the young people of Gracey neighborhood, who enjoyed a delightful picnic at Cerulean Springs on that day.

A number of married people graced the occasion by their chaperonage. Below are the names of those in attendance:

Mr. and Mrs. Lander Meacham, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Vaughn, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Hopson, Mr. and Mrs. John Gaines, Mesdames B. W. Cowherd, W. R. Wolfe, Frank Wilson, Bryant Baker, Will Hammond, Tom Wilson, Dick Wilson, T. J. Hammonds, B. Hammonds, Misses Katie McCray, Gladys Bartley, Albert Hopson, Emily Williamson, Della Hopson, Cynthia Forquean, Fanny May Wilson, Emma Lee Cowherd, Lelia May Wilson.

Messrs. Cecyl Woolfe, Will Wilson, Rob Shelton, Hunter Watson, Lewis Russell, Jasper Wilson, Garrett Roach, George Wilson, Archie Hopson.

A Cure for Cholera Infantum.

"Last May," says Mrs. Curtis Baker, of Bookwalter, Ohio, "an infant child of our neighbor's was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctor had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling them I felt sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days' time the child had fully recovered, and is now (nearly a year since) a vigorous, healthy girl. I have recommended this remedy frequently and have never known it to fail in any single instance." For sale by C. K. Wyly.

Mr. N. L. Turner of Keyburg, Ky., has been in the city several days arranging to place before the farmers of the county The Farmers Business Record. We have personally examined the Record and unhesitatingly say that it is one that will be useful to every farmer. By its use every farmer can tell precisely what his profit or loss has been each year on every product of the farm. The manner of introducing the Record to the farmers is also unique. The farmer gets the Record without any cost whatever.

Went to Visit His Sister.

A. J. Cottingham went to Washington, County, Ark., to see his sister and while there was taken with flux (dysentery) and was very bad off. He decided to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was so much pleased with the prompt cure which it effected, that he wrote the manufacturers a letter in praise of their medicine. Mr. Cottingham resides at Lockland, Ark. This remedy is for sale by C. K. Wyly.

Hanson Goes "Dry."

In the election at Hanson Saturday to determine whether or not spirituous, vinous or malt liquors should be sold there, the "wet" were defeated by a majority of sixteen votes.

Don't Wait Until Fall TO BEGIN TO BUILD.

It takes a month or more to get the plan question settled, and the best houses can not be built in a hurry. A house built in the winter is seldom satisfactory, and a fall beginning means a winter ending. Furthermore, prices on all materials are generally higher in the fall. Then too, most people wait till then to build, and work brings a higher price when there is a great deal of it. Hence you have everything to gain and nothing to lose by building in the Spring and Summer.

If You Wish to Build This Year Build Now.
